From onstage performances to red carpet appearances to family fun—these stars are always in the spotlight.

Gerard Butler attends a movie premiere with a new scruffy look. The hunky Scottish star is being sued for more than 1.5 million CAD over the name of his new production company, Evil Twins Entertainment, by a firm called Evil Twins Productions.

Country Strong’s Gwyneth Paltrow—who showcased her singing chops at the Country Music Awards—also wowed audiences with her performance on an episode of Glee.

Brad Pitt took Shiloh and the gang zip-lining in Budapest. The famous Jolie-Pitt clan is there while Angelina Jolie shoots her directorial debut, United Love Story.

Daniel Radcliffe, Emma Watson and Rupert Grint attended the premiere of Harry Potter and the Deathly Hallows: Part 1 in London. The trio got sentimental during interviews with Tribute about their final days of shooting the film series. For more, go to tribute.ca.
Jessica Alba goes grocery shopping in L.A. Alba recently revealed that she almost quit acting due to harsh comments by directors, saying, “I remember when I was dying in Silver Surfer. The director was like, ‘It looks too real. It looks too painful. Can you be prettier when you cry? Cry pretty, Jessica.’"

Jake Gyllenhaal, 29, tries to slip out of London’s Heathrow airport unnoticed with Anne Hathaway close behind. The Love & Other Drugs star is now making beautiful music with country singer Taylor Swift, 21, who’s known to write about her romantic relationships.

Canadian actress Malin Ackerman was in New York recently to watch the famous Victoria’s Secret Fashion show. Ackerman recently replaced Lindsay Lohan in Inferno, in which she will play Linda Lovelace, the porn star famous for her adult film, Deep Throat. Chris Hanley, Inferno’s producer stated that it’s better for Lindsay to focus on her rehabilitation for now. “Lindsay had scheduling issues due to legal obligations and is continuing to focus on getting better in rehab.”

Jim Carrey has his fill of shopping for the day in New York City. The actor was actually filming the movie Mr. Popper’s Penguins on Park Avenue.

Elizabeth Banks stepped out on the red carpet for her film The Next Three Days.
It all started with an old arcade game that sucked Kevin Flynn (Jeff Bridges) into a fantastical gaming world of life and death on a glowing grid.

Tron broke barriers when it first premiered in 1982, and for its second coming, a whopping 28 years later, its use of technology rivals that of James Cameron’s Avatar and has some fresh faces to add to the excitement.

For newcomers Garrett Hedlund and Olivia Wilde, who star as Sam Flynn, Kevin’s estranged son, and Quorra, it was a no-brainer for them jump into the computer-animated world. But with its spectacular effects, it was the heart of the story that roped in Hedlund and Wilde.

“I felt really lucky that Joe [Kosinski, director] was so open to having a heroine in a Disney movie that didn’t have flowing, ‘Little Mermaid’ hair,” Wilde said, while in Los Angeles. “When we first talked about the role, I said it would be cool if she had a sort of Joan of Arc type of vibe to her. I did lots of research on ancient Buddhist warriors. I think this kind of asymmetrical, almost androgynous kind of look made her more interesting.”

Adds Hedlund: “At first I was curious, you know? Because I’d seen what the VFX footage looked like and I thought, ‘All right, where are they going to take this?’

In the upcoming Tron: Legacy movie, we find Kevin’s son, Sam, embark on an adventure to find his missing father, who has been trapped in the Tron world for 20 years.

When Sam hears a signal coming from an old machine at his father’s old arcade shop he finds a hidden office and, after tampering with some old equipment, gets sucked into a strange world. There, he meets the fearless, sexy warrior Quorra, and embarks on a father and son, life-and-death journey across a visually stunning cyber-universe. Of course, Hedlund had to sharpen his disc-throwing skills in order to survive on the famous grid. “Most of that stuff was all improv,” Hedlund says of the famous disc game scenes. “The special FX guy or the prop guy would be tossing me disc after disc and I would jump around. I would say a little something, then I would maybe do a shoulder roll and get up and throw...

SMELL LIKE A MAN, MAN.

Old Spice
the disc. I was able to be wild with no rules, and attempt whatever. It’s those kinds of little gems that are great for the special FX guys to play with.”

Although Hedlund and Wilde knew the special effects would be tremendous and groundbreaking, they did most of their own stunt work, not only for their fighting skills but to get into their skin-tight suits. “Physically it was more challenging than anything I’d ever done and so I really had to spend every waking moment that I wasn’t shooting my TV show House to train,” Wilde says. “Once I knew what it felt like to have muscles, I suddenly thought, ‘Wow, this is what it feels like to be a warrior, to be someone who can protect themselves.’ I was walking home at night, and I remember thinking, if somebody jumped me, I think I could take them!” Adds Hedlund: “The training was difficult, but it’s acquiring the abilities, like for the art of Parkour and Capoeira that takes some agility, and time.”

It also wouldn’t be a Tron world without some colorful characters, including Castor and Jarvis. This is where formidable British stars Michael Sheen and James Frain step into the fantasy world. Sheen and Frain had some freedom to develop their characters, which also lent a bit of comedic relief to the movie. “I was going mainly for the ’70s British rock star look,” Sheen said. “The character of Castor was supposed to be this showman, a really larger-than-life character that would bring a different kind of energy to the film. So I thought about a chameleon, and somebody who’s very able to take on new personas and adapt. And that’s what made me think about Bowie, and the whole Ziggy look.”

For Frain, who plays the head of the evil Clu’s secret police, his look had to be updated regularly. “My head was shaved for me every morning,” Frain said. “I just felt fantastically sexy in this costume, I must say [laughs]. Jarvis fulfills the designs of the evil Clu. But he’s unfortunately fundamentally inept, and finds it very difficult to get anything done without making very obvious mistakes.”

For more exclusive interviews with the Tron: Legacy cast, go to www.tribute.ca/tron.

Special Effects

All in all, Tron: Legacy is still Bridges’ world. And this time, he’s in a unique position, playing both the good guy and the bad guy—two characters, Kevin Flynn and Clu (his original avatar), separated by nearly three decades. The effect to make Bridges look 35 years younger was achieved by the visual effects artists at Digital Domain, using some of the same techniques from The Curious Case of Benjamin Button that made Brad Pitt look like a realistic 90-year-old man. The effects team used Bridges’ image from one of his past movies, Against All Odds.

Using highly developed technology known as facial capture, the film’s visual effects supervisor, Eric Barba, said that they used the first-ever helmet-mounted camera in live action, to allow Bridges’ younger self to interact with other characters. “Clu had to look, feel, breathe and act exactly like the young Jeff,” Barba said. “He had to be believable, a realistic human. We took our E-Motion Capture technology and pushed it far beyond anything we’ve ever done. It raised the bar higher than we’ve seen before.”

But what was it like for Bridges to play against his younger self? “For an actor, for me anyway, it’s very exciting and I’m happy to know now that I can play myself at any age, maybe even a different sex too! Maybe I could play a woman next.”
Kids bring everyone closer, right?

He sang for U.S. President Barack Obama. He's appeared on everything from David Letterman to Saturday Night Live. Now, pop superstar Justin Bieber is hitting the big screen in his very own documentary, in 3-D no less! And to think, this Stratford, Ontario-raised 16-year-old started from humble roots.

Bieber's entrance to the music scene began at a young age, when he taught himself how to play the piano, drums, guitar and trumpet. By age 12, Bieber was entering Stratford music competitions, performing covers of R&B star Ne-Yo's "So Sick," and posting YouTube videos crooning to Usher and Stevie Wonder's greatest hits. It wasn't long before the online word of mouth spread, and the kid from Stratford became an Internet sensation.

Spotted on YouTube by music producer Scooter Braun, Bieber was soon tracked down and flown to Atlanta, where a bidding war ensued. In the end, he signed with Usher and Island Def Jam Records, where he launched his first album, the platinum-selling My World, with the hit singles "One Time," "One Less Lonely Girl" and "Love Me."

"Bieber Fever" soon took over the hearts and minds of young girls everywhere. Swarms of young fans became so overwhelming that appearances and performances had to be canceled for fear of problems with crowd control. Not since The Beatles had an artist so captivated the world's youth, a phenomenon that only grew with the release of My World 2.0, and his biggest single to date, "Baby," which features Bieber singing alongside rap star Ludacris.

A bona fide pop phenomenon, Bieber's reach knows no bounds, with endorsements from everything from the skin-care line Proactiv to books and his very own brand of nail polish by Nicole for O.P.I., featuring shades named after his songs. Add to this a soon-to-be-released Bieber toy line, jewelry, and an upcoming acoustic album, and it's hard to argue that Bieber hasn't become a brand in his own right.

In February, Bieber will transition from concert halls to movie theatres with the release of his larger-than-life documentary Justin Bieber: Never Say Never in February 2011. Presented in eye-popping 3D, Bieber's doc features an intimate, behind-the-scenes look at the young star, from his modest beginnings to his sold-out international tours.

HOROSCOPE

JAKE GYLLENHAL - Sagittarius born December 19, 1980, Los Angeles, CA
An acting career may seem totally natural when you’re the son of a movie director and a screenwriter, and Paul Newman is your godfather. Certainly Jake has his sign’s easy-going charm. He also has the Sagittarian activist spirit. Offscreen, he supports various political and social causes. Onscreen, he tackles controversial roles such as the confused Marine in Jarhead (2005) and the co-lead in the highly lauded Brokeback Mountain. It’s also the sign of the bachelor, and post-Kirsten Dunst this hunk has been linked with such Hollywood beauties as Reese Witherspoon, and most recently Taylor Swift. A highly Creative 2011 lies ahead for him, while he likely continues to play the field.

STARS STRUCK
What the stars have planned for you

ARIES (March 21 – April 20)
The holidays are here, and you’re ready to go! Don’t leave any loose ends behind at the office, though, or you might just trip yourself up. Negotiate all fine print carefully from the 10th on.
Do keep room in your agenda for impromptu get-togethers from the 20th on—and for strategic manoeuvres under the mistletoe.

TAURUS (April 21 – May 21)
Your heart never strays far from the hearth this month. With travel iffy that’s probably a good thing. You and someone dear make some solid plans for the future. After the 22nd, out-of-town house-guests keep you hopping. You add sparkle and style to holiday preparations, and on the 31st everyone’s on your wavelength.

GEMINI (May 22 – June 21)
You certainly won’t be home alone this holiday season. Those close want to get closer, and your social life is on mad sleigh ride. Why does everyone want to slow you down with their responsibilities? Set some limits, especially with people at work. Keep an eye on the holiday spending, lest expenses careen out of control.

CANCER (June 22 – July 22)
It’s a wonderful life, Cancer, and not just a rerun movie! Make dates, host a party, mix and mingle. Just make sure to double-check your work, as details can trip you up now. Late in the month, love is definitely in the air. Cast around for a new romantic lead on New Year’s Eve, if you’re eligible.

leo (July 23 – August 23)
Your approach to the holidays: the more the merrier! As in more parties, more gifts, more everything. Don’t overdo it, though; aspects favor observances bigger on meaning than expense. You may be asked to prove yourself on the job, though a promised raise or promotion is delayed until 2011.

VIRGO (August 24 – September 23)
You’re dancing the holiday quick-step. Your family keeps you hopping, and some mix-ups in scheduling make extra work as well.
Go with the frantic flow, and keep celebrations on the modest side. Around the 21st you could have a brilliant flash about your future direction. Hold that thought heading into 2011.

LIBRA (September 24 – October 23)
It’s lights, camera, yet action is stalled on many fronts.
Misunderstandings and quarrels between family members erupt, and it may be up to you to keep the peace. Your ruling planet, Venus, prompts you to overspend on gifts if you’re not careful. But it also could bring a nice bonus or raise to ring in the New Year in style.

SCORPIO (October 24 – November 22)
Your Grinch tendencies fail to make an appearance this year.
Increased self-confidence, especially about your earning capacity, has you more jolly than ever. An unexpected gift is more than one chance at romance, especially mid-month. Postpone that purchase of a big-ticket item, or make sure to get the extended warranty.

SAGITTARIUS (November 23 – December 21)
When they roll the credits this month, your name tops the list.
Expect to get the star treatment wherever you go. Just put on the brakes from time to time, lest you spin out of control. A new relationship seems stalled mid-month. You’ll have to use some patience, and maybe grant this person more space.

CAPRICORN (December 22 – January 20)
Home stretch to the holidays: time to stop driving yourself so hard. Personal plans likely stall, and through no fault of your own. Meanwhile, the ghosts of holidays past come back to haunt you. Mostly, they bring happy thoughts and perhaps the return of lost friendship. Your love life has a charmed quality now.

AQUARIUS (January 21 – February 18)
Your favorite themes are written into the holiday scenario:
spontaneity and convivial gatherings Lighthearted friendships flourish, but keep an eye out for opportunities to use the grapevine to your professional advantage. Take time to retreat from it all now and then and contemplate your next big move.

PISCES (February 19 – March 20) Make your career move early in the month. Set your agenda and show you have what it takes. If it’s time to ask for a raise, do so before the 10th; just don’t expect a firm commitment until next year. The friendship theme spices the script. From the 21st on, loved ones gather around you for warmth and cheer.

THE TOURIST
December 10 Action
Angelina Jolie, Johnny Depp, Paul Bettany, Timothy Dalton, Steven Berkoff, Rufus Sewell
American tourist Frank Taylor’s (Depp) haphazard encounter with a mysterious and tantalizing woman (Jolie) while vacationing in Italy throws the newfound couple into an international crime caper the likes of which neither are prepared for.
Buzz: A steamy shower scene between Jolie and Depp was cut from the film at Depp’s request because his partner Vanessa Paradis deemed it inappropriate.

HOW DO YOU KNOW
December 17 Comedy
Reese Witherspoon, Owen Wilson, Paul Rudd, Jack Nicholson, Kathryn Hahn
Corporate exec George (Rudd) and professional baseball player Manny (Wilson) compete for the love of 27-year-old Lisa (Witherspoon), as the three become embroiled in a complex and humorous love triangle.
Buzz: The film had to be quickly re-edited close to its release because regulators ruled there is too much swearing.

THE FIGHTER
December 17 Drama
Mark Wahlberg, Christian Bale, Amy Adams, Melissa Leo
Real-life boxer “Irish” Micky Ward (Mark Wahlberg) and his trainer-brother Dick Eklund’s quest for the world championship takes center ring as they battle the mean streets of Massachusetts, Eklund’s drug addiction, and a title fight that will put Ward’s resolve and perseverance to the ultimate test.
Buzz: Mark Wahlberg recently said it’s the “best film he’s ever been in.”

TRON: LEGACY
December 17 Action
Jeff Bridges, Garrett Hedlund, Olivia Wilde, James Frain, Michael Sheen, Beau Garrett
Twenty years after the disappearance of his video-game programming father (Bridges), Sam Flynn (Hedlund) sets out to track him down, only to be trapped in the very game his father created. Stuck in a computerized world where reality is turned upside down, father and son must now team with the alluring warrior Quorra (Wilde) to fight a merciless digital despot, and escape back to reality.
Buzz: Garrett Hedlund had to get his motorcycle license for cruising on the Ducati 1000.

RABBIT HOLE
December 17 Drama
Nicole Kidman, Aaron Eckhart, Sandra Oh, Jon Tenney, Dianne Wiest
Following the tragic death of their son, Becca (Kidman) and Howie Corbett’s (Eckhart) perfect family life is shattered. While Becca chooses to embrace a relationship with the young man who accidentally killed her son, mournful Howie confronts his past and embraces outsiders, forcing the once happy couple to reexamine the choices they’ve based their lives on.
Buzz: “To keep costs down, the cast lived in the house where they shot the film. “We ate the same breakfast cereal you see in the film, and we shared a bathroom,” said Kidman.
GULLIVER’S TRAVELS
December 22 Comedy
Jack Black, Emily Blunt, Jason Segel, Amanda Peet, Billy Connolly, Romany Malco, Catherine Tate, T.J. Miller
A travel writer’s trip to the Bermuda Triangle turns surreal when he’s stranded on the hidden island of Lilliput, home to a population of pint-sized inhabitants.
Buzz: Jason Segal stars as Horatio, who spends most of the movie in Black’s shirt pocket.

LITTLE FOCKERS
December 22 Comedy
Robert De Niro, Ben Stiller, Owen Wilson, Blythe Danner, Teri Polo, Jessica Alba, Laura Dern, Harvey Keitel, Barbra Streisand
Greg (Stiller) has survived his ex-CIA father-in-law Jack’s (De Niro) suspicious nature in the past (cat-milking and all), but when he takes a new job at a pharmaceutical company, Greg is once again tasked with proving he’s good enough for Jack’s daughter (Polo), and a responsible family man.
Buzz: Jessica Alba will play a sexy pharmaceutical rep that will give Stiller’s character some trouble.

COUNTRY STRONG
December 22 Drama
Gwyneth Paltrow, Tim McGraw, Garrett Hedlund, Leighton Meester
A former country music star’s (Paltrow) return to the limelight is complicated by her relationships with her longtime manager (McGraw), a rising young musician (Hedlund) and the latest country starlet (Meester), as the road to fame proves more tumultuous than any of them expected.
Buzz: Paltrow’s husband Chris Martin wrote a song for her to sing and helped her learn guitar.

TRUE GRIT
December 22 Drama
Jeff Bridges, Hailee Steinfeld, Matt Damon, Josh Brolin, Barry Pepper
Tasked with tracking down her father’s killer, 14-year-old Mattie (Steinfeld), Texas Ranger La Boeuf (Damon) and alcoholic U.S. marshal Reuben J. Coburg (Bridges) journey into hostile Indian territory to find their man.
ANOTHER YEAR
December 29 Drama
Jim Broadbent, Lesley Manville, Ruth Sheen, Peter Wight, David Bradley Happily married Tom (Broadbent) and Mary (Manville) are confined in by an assortment of unhappy couples and loved ones, as they watch their unmarried friend fall for their young son.
Buzz: Director Mike Leigh is known for not writing a script so the actors must improvise their way through.

SEASON OF THE WITCH
January 7 Thriller
Nicolas Cage, Ron Perlman, Stephen Campbell Moore
A group of 14th-century knights are tasked with escorting a witch to a mountain abbey where she is to be studied and destroyed by monks who believe her powers come from the Black Plague.
Buzz: Nicolas Cage had to endure hair extensions for this movie as well as for his role in The Sorcerer’s Apprentice.

THE DILEMMA
January 14 Comedy
Vince Vaughn, Kevin James, Jennifer Connelly, Winona Ryder, Channing Tatum, Queen Latifah
A perfect partnership between auto-designer buddies Ronny (Vaughn) and Nick (James) is thrown into comic disarray when Ronny catches Nick’s wife Geneva (Ryder) having an affair with a younger man (Tatum).
Buzz: Winona Ryder won the lead female role after two auditions, beating out the likes of Kate Beckinsale, Carla Gugino and Uma Thurman.

THE GREEN HORNET
January 14 Action
Seth Rogen, Jay Chou, Cameron Diaz, Christoph Waltz Millionaire playboy Britt Reid (Rogen) turns to crime fighting following the untimely death of his media-mogul father (Wilkinson). With the help of the latest high-tech gadgets and deadly sidekick Kato (Chou), Reid takes to the night to clean up the mean streets of L.A. and confront a ruthless gangster (Waltz).
Buzz: Seth Rogen shed 30 pounds to play the part of Reid.

BARNEY’S VERSION
December 24 Drama
Paul Giamatti, Dustin Hoffman, Rosamund Pike, Minnie Driver, Rachelle Lefevre, Scott Speedman, Bruce Greenwood
This is the story of Barney Panofsky (Giamatti), a seemingly ordinary man who lives an extraordinary life. He is capable of all kinds of sneaky acts of gallantry, generosity, and goodness when we—and he—least expect it. Spanning four decades we get a glimpse into his unique life, including his three wives (Lefevre, Driver and Pike). With his father, Izzy (Hoffman) as his sidekick, Barney takes us through the many highs and lows of his long and colorful life.
Buzz: Based on the novel by Canadian author Mordecai Richler.

THE DEBT
December 29 Thriller
Helen Mirren, Sam Worthington, Tom Wilkinson Former Mossad agent Rachel Singer (Mirren) and her partners’ (Worthington, Wilkinson) hunt for an infamous Nazi war criminal ended 30 years earlier in bloodshed, but is dragged out of the past by the revelation that they may have got the wrong man. Now faced with a debt she doesn’t know how to pay, Rachel must relive the trauma of her past as she explores the events leading up to that fateful day.
Buzz: Worthington trained in the art of Krav Maga for the part.

Hammer’s Music Blog

Every December 31st on Z103.5, we get ready to ring in the New Year by counting down the top 103 songs of the previous year, and I can honestly say that this is one of the most anticipated year-end countdowns ever!

I spoke in an earlier blog about all the great new tracks that have been released. With hip hop artists working with dance producers, music genre barriers are being broken and the hit makers aren’t slowing down. It’s been an amazing year in music!

What will be the top song of 2010? I have no clue! There are usually one, two, maybe three songs that stand out above the rest every single year, but in 2010, there have been too many hits for that to be the case.

Countless bombs from Rihanna, Pitbull, Usher, the Black Eyed Peas, David Guetta, and many, many more— who knows what will be number one? If you want to help us decide, log on to www.z1035.com to vote for your favorite songs of 2010!
THE TWILIGHT SAGA: ECLIPSE
December 4
High school student Bella Swan (Kristen Stewart) is forced to choose between pursuing her love for Edward Cullen (Robert Pattinson) or maintaining her friendship with Jacob Black (Taylor Lautner), knowing her decision could potentially upset the delicate balance between vampires and werewolves. Meanwhile, a war is brewing between the Cullens and the Newborn Army, a legion of bloodthirsty vampires hell-bent on bringing death and havoc to everything in their path.

"Loved it all the way through."
"Better than the second, but lacks any semblance of acting."

INCEPTION
December 7
Dom Cobb (Leonardo DiCaprio) is a thief like no other: he breaks into people’s minds, stealing their deepest secrets and exploiting repressed memories. But when an opportunity arises for him to be reunited with his estranged family, Cobb teams with long-time partner Arthur (Joseph Gordon-Levitt), con man Eames (Tom Hardy) and brilliant college student Ariadne (Ellen Page) for one last mission to do the unthinkable: implant a memory and convince a corporate CEO to break apart his empire.

tribute.ca ★★★★★
"Inception had a more unique plot than most movies that come out."
"Interesting, but confusing at times."

SHREK FOREVER AFTER
December 7
Once a fearsome ogre, Shrek (Mike Myers) now leads the easy life, signing autographs and beloved by the locals. Longing for a return to the good old days, Shrek makes a deal with the conniving Rumpelstiltskin, and finds himself transported to an alternate reality where ogres are hunted, he and his love Fiona (Cameron Diaz) have never met and Rumpelstiltskin is king. Locked in a race against time, Shrek must set things right, reclaim Fiona and return to the world he used to take for granted.

tribute.ca ★★★★★
"The music was great and the animation was memorable."
"It was okay...not as funny as the other three."

THE OTHER GUYS
December 14
When a wacky forensic accountant (Will Ferrell) and a high-strung beat cop (Mark Wahlberg) get a shot at cracking a multi-billion dollar scam, it’s only a matter of time before one of them screws up (who knew desk pops were frowned upon?) Now, with both the cops and the crooks on their case, they try to prove they’re the right men for the job, and stop thieves from stealing $30 billion from the NYPD’s retirement fund.

tribute.ca ★★★★★
"Best Will Ferrell movie yet!"
"Jokes went on too long, and the timing was off."

THE A-TEAM
December 14
A group of Army Rangers team up to take on the toughest jobs the U.S. government can throw at them, until they’re wrongfully imprisoned for a crime they didn’t commit. Together as the rough and tumble A-Team, Colonel Hannibal Smith (Liam Neeson), Lt. Peck (Bradley Cooper), B.A. Baracus (Quinton Rampage Jackson) and Capt. H.M. Murdock (Sharlto Copley) must clear their names and take down the crooked CIA agent (Patrick Wilson) who framed them.

tribute.ca ★★★★★
"Liam Neeson did a great job as Hannibal!"
"Should have been more like the TV show."

SALT
December 21
After a Russian defector accuses highly trained CIA agent Evelyn Salt (Angelina Jolie) of being a mole, she’s forced to run. Now, with the CIA in pursuit and her life on the line, Salt must use the skills she’s learned as a super-spy to elude her captors, and prove once and for all she is who she says she is.

tribute.ca ★★★★★
"This movie was great...at putting me to sleep."
"Good movie! Angelina holds her own with the likes of Bond & Bourne."

It will be the most extravagant wedding since Prince Charles wed then Lady Diana Spencer on July 29, 1981. As Prince William and Kate Middleton, both 28, prepare to wed April 29, 2011, the world will be waiting in anticipation to watch this lavish wedding taking place at Westminster Abbey. His parents’ wedding was televised and watched by a global audience of over 750 million people around the globe.

William, the first son of Charles and Diana, second in line to the throne, recently popped the question to his longtime girlfriend Kate Middleton. Prince William asked Kate to marry him on a private wildlife reserve in central Kenya last month, giving her his mother’s engagement ring, a stunning 12-carat, oval-cut Ceylon Sapphire surrounded by 18 diamonds, set in white gold with a narrow yellow gold band. It will be the first time in 350 years that a royal will marry a commoner. When making the official announcement, William said, “The timing is right. We are very, very happy.”

Prince William met Middleton while at university, where they shared a flat with several other roommates. Since then, she and the prince have enjoyed quiet foreign holidays, but have often been apart. There was a blip in 2007 when they separated for a few months, allegedly because she was frustrated at his lack of commitment. Her comment at the time was, “He’s so lucky to be going out with me.” But their split soon ended with a reconciliation.

When you’re marrying into the royal family, particularly the son of the much-loved People’s Princess, Diana, there’s no doubt comparisons will be made. “I would have loved to have met her and she’s obviously an inspirational woman to look up to,” Middleton has said. “Obviously on this day and going forward, you know it is a wonderful family. The members who I’ve met have achieved a lot and are very inspirational,” Middleton added, before her fiancé interjected that there would be “no pressure” on his bride. “No one is trying to fill my mother’s shoes. What she did was fantastic,” William said. “It’s about making your own future and your own destiny, and Kate will do a very good job of that.”

That said, all that’s left is to document their union on the big screen.
